My 13 year old Jack Russell Terrier, Jake, was very aggravated by a lick granuloma on his hind leg and had 2 nasty sores. After trying several medications that didn't seem to give him any relief, Dr. Kris Ahlgrim, DVM at GoldenView Veterinary Hospital told me about a new laser therapy they would soon have available. Not long after, I got a call from Katy, Head Veterinary Nurse, and we came up with a therapy schedule that fit perfectly into my calendar. The therapy sessions were gentle, quiet and quick. Jake got very excited to go to see our new friend Katy. We could see some progress, then by halfway through the treatment schedule, Jake forgot all about the sores on his leg, and allowed them to improve more rapidly! By the end of the treatments the sores were completely healed. Now you can't even tell which leg was giving him so much grief. Best of all (6 weeks later) Jake has forgotten all about his leg, but not how much he loves visiting Katy and Dr. Kris.
